REGIONAL PARKS

OC Parks is home to California's first regional park, Irvine Regional Park, which opened in 1897. Since then, the County of Orange has created a county-wide system of award-winning parks. The regional parks in the OC Parks system are the perfect places for families, friends, reunions and group picnics.

WILDERNESS PARKS

Lush woodlands, scenic ridges and open grasslands make up the wilderness parks of OC Parks. With miles of trails for hikers and horseback riders, mountain biking, birding, equestrian campgrounds, nature centers and park ranger-led hikes, there's something for everyone.

HISTORIC PARKS

The historic parks of the OC Parks system preserve Orange County's rich history. Visit the Old Orange County Courthouse, restored to look much like it originally did in 1901. Cross the threshold of preserved historic homes, adobes and a one-room schoolhouse. Visit sites listed in the National Register of Historic Places, and a home designated as a National Historic Landmark. Orange County's history is your history.

BEACHES

Miles of beautiful coastline offer another side of OC Parks. Get your exercise at Thousand Steps Beach. Explore the tidepools at Aliso Beach. Watch pro surfers and bodyboarders practice and compete at Salt Creek Beach. Or just bring a picnic lunch and enjoy a day in the warm California sunshine.

CAMPGROUNDS

For those who like spending more than just a few hours at a time in the great outdoors, we have parks that let you camp in a tent, in an RV and with your horse. We even have a campground designed to introduce groups of children to the joys of sleeping under the stars and eating s'mores.

NATURE PRESERVES

OC Parks also maintains nature preserves for you to enjoy. The Irvine Ranch Open Space offers 22,500 acres of protected open space. And Upper Newport Bay Nature Preserve offers wildlife- and bird-filled coastal wetlands filled with wildlife and migratory birds.

ORANGE COUNTY ZOO

An ideal setting to exhibit animals native to the southwest, the Orange County Zoo features black bears, mountain lions, bald eagles and other animals that have been injured or are not releasable to the wild. Come spend an afternoon visiting with some Orange County neighbors you don't see very often.
